

ZOE FRAGOU

Zoe Fragou has worked with numerous leading organizations to help them build high-performance work cultures and enhance their effectiveness by delivering transformative solutions through leadership development and employee engagement.

She is an Organisational Psychologist, Leadership Developer, Culture Change Consultant and Awarded Career Coach who strategically aligns leadership programs, coaching & training, learning & development, and employee-engaging communications, with company goals to enable transformation – all while measuring the effectiveness of solutions and iterating with data-driven strategy improvements. Zoe has also created numerous psychometric tools and performance evaluation systems for global organizations, to map corporate culture and add value in their recruitment processes.

Her keynotes on leadership, culture, mental health and women's leadership have been delivered to audiences around the world.

Zoe is a Doctoral student, researching the Psychometrics of Corporate Culture. She holds an MSc in Human Resources Management, a Postgraduate Degree in Executive Coaching and Mentoring, a BSc in Psychology and a clinical psychologist license.